VOL. XIV. No. 49. EDMONTON, ALBERTA, MONDAY, OCTOBER 17TH, 1892. SEMI-WEEKLY, 8 PAGES

LOCAL.

No train to-night. It turned back to Calgary from about 40 miles north of that place.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR ROYAL is expected to arrive from Regina on Thursday's train.

The Free Press says that twelve wheat trains a day leave the Winnipeg yard of the C. P. R.

JAS. H. STEVENSON arrived from British Columbia, on Wednesday last, with a band of 50 horses for sale.

THE South Edmonton land office was re-opened on Thursday last. Jules Royal, assistant agent, in charge.

ROBERT CROCKART's carriage stallion "Black Diamond" was said by the judges to be the finest horse on the show ground.

ROBT. JOHNSTONE has sold his double villa on corner of First and Elizabeth streets, Methodist mission property, to J. A. McDougall.

THEO. FULTON's 2 years old carriage stallion, which took first prize in that class at the Edmonton exhibition, is a grandson of "Maud S."

H. VEZINA, of Horse Hill, charged with stealing lumber from a neighbor named Stanlick, was brought before Inspector Piercy on Friday and committed for trial. Bail was accepted.

MR. St. Arnaud, station agent at South Edmonton, has been indisposed since Thursday last, and baggageman Heatly has been acting in his place. J. Gregg, of Dunmore, late of Edmonton, will arrive on to night's train to take charge of the station.

THE voting on the $10,000 debenture by-law was going on to-day. At the opening of the poll the yeas took the lead. About noon yeas and nays were nearly a tie, and at three p. m. the nays were about seven votes ahead. Considering the importance of the question at issue very little interest has been manifested and a very small vote has been polled.

J. D. McALLISTER, of Beaver lake, has purchased from R. McKernan the imported heavy draught stallion "Ringer," and from R. Crockart the heavy draught stallion "Royal Oak." Both stallions took first prizes in their several classes at the exhibition of last week, and "Ringer" was awarded the special prize given by J. C. C. Bremner for the best heavy draught stallion on the ground.

THE stormy weather which commenced on Saturday last extended south and east for a long distance. The wires on the C. P. R. main line went down on Saturday, and are now only partially repaired. The train for the west was nine hours late at Calgary on Saturday but Sunday's train was on time. To-day's train left Calgary an hour and fifteen minutes late and had not reached Olds, 60 miles north of Calgary, at 2 p. m. to-day. Calgary reports 5 inches of snow. Red Deer 18 inches. There is about six inches here, which is going rapidly to-day. The weather was not windy or cold during the snow fall here.

LOCAL.

LAST Monday's train brought in 88 intending settlers and land prospectors, with six cars of effects, four being from South Dakota for Westaskawin and two from North Dakota for Edmonton. The immigrants came from Ontario, Quebec, Dakota, Minnesota, Nebraska, and two from South Wales. T. Mulligan, wife and four children from Sombra, Ont.; Alex. Thompson and wife, Minnesota; John Willie, wife and nine children, Waterloo, Ont.; — Phalan and G. Blain came to Edmonton; Jas. Farmer, wife and family, South Dakota, A. H. Tomlin, wife and family, J. W. Forth, F. E. Kelly, for Westaskawin. Rev. Mr. Morin's colony went to the new settlement, north of St. Albert.

R. O. JENNINGS, who has been in the employ of the Calgary and Edmonton construction company in connection with securing the water for their tanks, arrived on Thursday of last week under contract with the electric light company to secure an adequate supply of water for the power plant. The well now used is only 32 feet deep, and has plenty of water or not enough as the river rises or falls. Mr. Jennings will deepen the well and run a drift or tunnel out to the river bed so that if there is water in the river there will be water in the well. The well was down to a bed of hard pan and on Friday a blast of dynamite was put in which tore through the hard pan. Besides getting enough water to run their engine with, the electric light company desire to secure an unlimited supply with a view of, at some time, furnishing water to the town by a scheme of waterworks.

H. D. LUMSDEN, arbitrating engineer on the C. & E. railway, arrived on Monday's train to make some measurements on the road. Mayor McCauley waited upon Mr. Lumsden on Tuesday morning at the railway station to request him to make a survey for a railway extension from the C. & E. line to the river flat opposite town, the expense to be defrayed by the town of Edmonton. This was in pursuance of an interview held with President Van Horne in the spring in which he promised to operate such an extension if it was built by the town, according to survey and plan made by Mr. Lumsden. The matter was again referred to by Superintendent Whyte during his recent visit and it was thought that Mr. Lumsden's visit was an opportune time to get the survey made. Mr. Lumsden, however, informed Mr. McCauley that the present pressure upon his time would not admit of his making the survey just now. He had to leave for Prince Albert on Wednesday morning, and would have to be in Toronto so shortly afterwards that he could not possibly visit Edmonton again this fall. He advised that Superintendent Whyte be communicated with, with a view to securing the services of some other engineer whose work would be satisfactory to Mr. Van Horne.

THE EXHIBITION.

The exhibition which closed on Friday evening, in many respects, the most successful and best managed that has ever been held in Edmonton. It was the first two days' show that has been held here, and the experiment has been so generally satisfactory that there is very little doubt the system will be continued in future. No doubt the threatening weather of both Thursday and Friday had a very deterrent effect on exhibitors and visitors, and therefore reduced the measure of success that would otherwise have been attained. That, however, was something that could not be provided against, and indeed it was most fortunate that the show was not a day later. The show of horses was particularly fine, due to a great extent to the valuable importations of the past season. These importations represent a very large amount of capital, and great enterprise, and must result in very greatly improving the quality of the horses raised in this country. The parade of first prize horses on Friday afternoon was an entirely new and excellent feature of the programme, regarding which the only possible improvement would be the inclusion of the winners of second prizes as well. Hitherto it was impossible or almost impossible for an ordinary spectator to get a good idea of the animals shown. By assembling all the prize winners in a parade every visitor can be sure of seeing the best of the display with the smallest possible amount of discomfort or loss of time. The exhibit of cattle was not up to that of horses, either in numbers or quality. While the sheep and pigs were good the exhibits were not as numerous as was desirable. The same remark applies to poultry. In the agricultural hall, which hitherto has been Edmonton's strong point, the first thing to strike the eye was a show of native grasses, collected by M. McCauley, president of the society. The display included 34 varieties, of which reed grass 9 feet 9 inches long, blue joint 7 feet and red top 7 feet, are worthy of special mention. There were besides wild timothy, wild hemp, oat grass, rye grass, pea grass and vetch, and many other beautiful and interesting varieties. Nothing can give as good an idea of the fertility and productiveness of any country as a display of its natural products, and in grasses Edmonton certainly cannot be excelled in length, quality or variety. Besides the grass was an equally beautiful show of grain in the straw, including many varieties of wheat, oats, barley, flax, hemp and millet. The number of exhibits of threshed grain was greater than usual, and the samples were fairly good, but hardly up to that of other years in wheat. It was generally conceded that the first prize Ladoga was the best looking wheat in the show. It weighed 61 pounds to the bushel. White oats weighed 44 pounds to the bushel; black oats, 38 lbs.; two rowed barley, 50 lbs.; field peas, 62 lbs. There were three exhibits of peas, one of marrowfat and two of field, all remarkably good. There were also exhibits of timothy seed and flax seed, showing the possibility of diversifying the farming industry very greatly in this district. On the vegetable side of the show the display of cabbages was probably most noticeably. All exhibits in this class were large and good, and competition was keen. A red cabbage measured 3 ft 6 inches around and weighed 27 lbs.; a white cabbage, 3 ft 10 inches and weighed 30 lbs. A kail plant measured 4 ft 3 inches from tip to tip of the leaves. There were also Brussels' sprouts and cauliflower in this class; a head of the latter measured 2 ft 7 inches around and weighed 7 pounds. This, however, is not large. There was a large display of potatoes, but neither in size nor appearance were these up to former years. Twelve of the largest weighed 22½ pounds. Turnips were small, but good, the largest weighing 10 lbs; carrots were good, white carrots measuring 1 ft 3 inches around and horn carrots 10 inches around. Beets were small, a short beet measuring 1 ft 8 inches around, and a long one 1 foot around by 2 feet long. A parsnip was 1 foot around by 1 foot 9 inches long, and six of them weighed eleven pounds. Celery measured 3 feet in length by 11 inches around; a mangold measured 1 foot 3 inches around by 1 foot 7 inches long. A yellow onion raised from seed measured 1 foot 1¼ inches around, a red onion 1 foot 2 inches, and a white onion 1 foot 2½ inches around. Of the tender vegetables there was a fuller show than usual. Four exhibits of ripe tomatoes were shown including the small cherry tomatoe, two samples of corn, two of pumpkins 3 feet 5 inches around, one of citrons, one of cucumbers three of squash, sunflower heads, 2 foot 11 inches around, and one of tobacco in the dried leaf and in roll. This was grown by Count de Cazes Indian agent on Stony Plain. Altogether there was a very creditable display of vegetables although the size in most classes did not equal former years. Three exhibits of factory made cheese marked the beginning of a new branch of the farming industry in Edmonton. It is to be regretted that there was no creamery butter to show along with it. The exhibit of dairy made butter was up to the usual high standard as to quality, but the number of exhibits was not as great as usual. The same remark applies to the exhibit of bread. There was an unusually large and good display of ladies work of almost all kinds; of drawing as well, the work in this line being all more than creditable. The school exhibits of writing and map drawing received a large and well merited share of attention. There were no flowers shown, and there was but one fancy collection of native grasses, which, however was very good. A sample of native flour was shown by J. C. Squarebriggs of the Sturgeon mill, which called forth a great deal of favorable comment.
